ENUTC Cofund Call: Wanted Projects

The projects should clearly build upon previous experiences of building capacity in practice, build upon existing knowledge of transformation capacities towards urban sustainability, resilience and liveability, and/or develop this knowledge further, and will be encouraged to use new technologies and tools aiming towards implementation of research and innovation and ensure possibilities for scaling up. Projects may also study transformation processes and transformative capacity building for increased knowledge and understanding of such processes.

ENUTC Cofund Call: Wanted Projects

- ✓ Call Topic 1: Urban circular economies
- ✓ Call Topic 2: Community-based developments & urban innovation ecosystems
- ✓ Call Topic 3: Robust and resilient urban infrastructure and built environment

WHAT CAN YOU APPLY FOR?

Transdisciplinary research and innovation projects that enable capacity building.

WHO CAN APPLY?

Researchers from universities and research institutes, practitioners from urban government authorities, and the private sector, from at least three countries participating in the call.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU APPLY FOR?

See the maximum for each partner in the national requirements.

Projects should study and/or support capacity building using integrated approaches to achieve urban transformations towards sustainability, resilience and liveability in at least one of the three call topics, that are transition pathways identified as challenges.

Purpose of the Public Consultation & Today's Workshop

- Get advice and feedback for the preparation of the transnational, European call for research and innovation (R&I) proposals dedicated to urban transformation capacities
- Reach and engage as many knowledgeable stakeholders as possible
- Shape and tailor the three broad call topics
- Pick-up additional 'hot topics' and discuss them in the workshop

Public Consultation: Survey Results

Call Topic 3: Robust and resilient urban infrastructure and built environment

- Question 1) STATE OF THE ART: According to the survey results, the ENUTC call topics represent “state of the art” research and innovation relating to urban transformation capacities. Which parts specifically – and why? How can the call topic(s) go beyond this?
- Question 2) KEY CHALLENGES: What are the main (societal/systematic) challenges within this call topic? What impact should be expected of projects?

Call Topic 3: Robust and resilient urban infrastructure and built environment

- Question 1) TARGET GROUPS: The survey showed that call participation is “somewhat appealing” for companies – but we do not know for which types of companies (sector/ sizes). The call targets a broad range of stakeholder groups. Why do you think that participation is more appealing to some groups than others – and what can be done about that?
- Questions 2) MAIN HURDLES: (You can choose to answer one of these questions and not all)
What do you understand to be the main hurdles for submitting a proposal in this call? How do you think they can be solved? Based on your experience are there any best practice examples that you can share with us for matchmaking assistance and consortium development?

Concept Board stays open until Monday: <https://app.conceptboard.com/board/dphr-50an-kcxx-y12t-spcf>
