Next up: Presentation by the international call secretariat

Example of project ideas, submitted by registrants to this event (1)

A real-time liveability index generation and public engagement/behavioral change.

We want to understand the relationship between ownership models like Community Land Trusts and Doughnut Economy neighbourhoods

My project's objective is to understand the emergence of "innovation places" generating urban commons in the metropolitan areas.

Build and share data on local resources to support innovative circular policies and projects

Creating Plastic Free Circular Economy in cities by creating a blockchain based governance model in the cities by Tokens.

Example of project ideas, submitted by registrants to this event (2)

Challenges in reliability, quality, efficiency, and resilience of energy infrastructure: Toward self-healing microgrid

Stimulating the role of cultural incubators (maker places, creative and innovation hubs) in community based development

Social justice within transitions (degrowth) to foster a just and inclusive transformation.

GIS-based building stock modelling to analyse decarbonisation strategies for affordable buildings.

Business model for PV cooperatives/ communities for urban residents

The agency of creative/social entrepreneurs in urban development, building on our collaboration with >20 creative hubs in NL.

Next up: Good advice from JPI Urban Europe funded projects…

Good advice from JPI Urban Europe funded projects CIVIC and MIMIC

✓ Consider how you complement each other within the consortia team so that you can truly capitalize on each other's skills and know-how to improve your project

✓ Involve the right stakeholders- who is necessary to have onboard from the beginning for your project outcomes to "survive" after your three years of working in it? Who will carry the "legacy", why would they, and how?

✓ Be concrete about the impact your project can have on society and affected stakeholders

✓ If you're a smaller stakeholder, don't hesitate to reach out the universities- they tend to have large international networks

✓ Have fun together! It makes all the hard work easier.
